Hotels in Warsaw and Dublin topped the European profit growth charts in 2012, as demand in Warsaw was fuelled by the 2012 FIFA European Championships and hotels in Dublin matched the profit growth of the Polish capital as demand returned but supply remained static, according to the latest HotStats survey by TRI Hospitality Consulting.

Poland was joint host of the Euro finals this summer alongside the Ukraine, and the capital Warsaw played host to several major fixtures, including the semi-final between Germany and Italy. In June, hotels in the Polish capital were able to drive average room rate to achieve an uplift of 161.3% to €253.55, fuelling a 195.6% increase in profit per available room.
