European visitors to Central America up by more than two per cent in 2012

Despite the crisis affecting Europe (and in particular Spain and Italy), the European market grew by 2.4%, with 17,879 more visitors than in the same period in 2011. The German and French markets (both up by nearly 4%) experienced the biggest growth, whilst the British market grew by 1.5% with a total of 96,039 visitors.

Central America received a total of 11,133,666 visitors – 747,712 of those from European countries – during the period January to November 2012, according to preliminary data provided by the Ministries of Tourism of Belize, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Panama.
